Keynote Speakers

L. MICHAEL HALL, PhD co-founded Neuro-Semantics on a whim and was then surprised when people wanted to join and then had to run fast to catch up with the group so he could be their visionary leader (!) and while he has not caught up yet, he feels that he's at least not losing too much ground. He began as a Cognitive Psychologist then Abraham Maslow rose from the grave and converted him to Self-Actualization Psychology. He stumbled upon the Meta-States Model and that threw him into a new career—modeling expertise which he says sometimes is an annoying thing, but at least he's around really exciting and world-class people! Meta-Coaching happened as a fluke also but that's another story. He's written lots of books (50+) because he is trying to figure something out. His mother says he needs more humor.

MANDY CHAI, the founder of Asia Professional Training Institute, the chairlady of International Society of Neuro-Semantics (Greater China) and the regional director of Meta Coach Foundation (Greater China). She is a transformational trainer and coach who has delivered leading edge self-actualization based trainings for over 10 years. She commits herself to enabling excellence in individuals and organizations so as to "turn vision into reality".

COLIN COX is a highly sought after inspirational Keynote Presenter, Corporate Trainer and Executive Meta-Coach. He has held a position in the Global NS Leadership Team with the International Society of Neuro-Semantics for the past 7 years. He constantly continues to evolve through his passion for learning. He draws his continued learning from the domains of Neuro-Semantics, Cognitive and Behavioural Psychology, Social Sciences, Learning Psychology and Accelerated Learning, to ensure that he remains a recognised global leader in Learning & Development.

Synopsis

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY OF NEURO-SEMANTICS (ISNS) is an international collaborative association of trainers in Neuro-Semantics committed to using the models and patterns of Neuro-Semantics in an ethical and professional way.

It is guided by a Leadership Team of 14 people from 9 countries committed to living out the principles of Neuro-Semantics—Actualizing the highest meanings in the best performances.

ISNS now has Institutes in 18 countries and represents the New Human Potential Movement building upon the work of the first human potential movement that Maslow, Rogers and the others launched.

Objective

The objective of this Conference is to explore the processes that will reliably unleash your highest and best potentials.

- By enabling you to create the most enhancing and robust meanings
- By modeling excellence in people who are actualizing their highest and best
- By enabling self-actualization to win the inner game so you can achieve peak performance in your outer games of everyday life
